

LUNAR PATHS release new single, Zero Trust Mentality:

Lunar Paths (Diane Dubois and Kevin Hunter) release their first single of 2025, Zero Trust Mentality and its accompanying music video. Zero Trust Mentality drops on February 8, and will form part of an innovative collaboration with two other bands, one from Ireland and the other from Australia. The duo is keeping details of that project under wraps—for now!

"Towards the end of 2024, we were convinced that our socials were being hacked. It was a stressful, punch in the gut feeling: our hard work could be callously destroyed by forces unknown. We took steps to protect ourselves. As we did, we noticed how the language of cybersecurity was like a 'found poem', its topic the paranoid and perilous times in which we live. But first came the music: abrasive sequencers, celestial MIDI and warped samples. We've yearned to create a darkwave dance track, and this is it!"

Veterans of the original northern UK goth scene, ex Skeletal Family and Cold Dance duo Diane Dubois and Kevin Hunter formed Lunar Paths in 2021, after a chance encounter on social media reunited them. Despite the thousands of miles that now separate their homes and studios, they soon discovered that they had retained an uncannily intuitive feel for each other's creative processes. All their work is done online, but after decades apart, they are now looking forward to meeting each other again face to face, as they plan their first foray into playing live.

Since their last collaboration, the music scene has changed and developed in so many exciting and unforeseeable ways, and this is reflected in the eclectic blend of styles that characterises Lunar Paths. Their roots, deep in the '80s postpunk scene, undoubtedly played a part in determining their sound, but then so did the many seismic changes in the musical landscape that took place over the last four decades. Each new track astounds and surprises, because each one is different from its predecessors – and yet, they do undeniably have a sound that is recognisably 'Lunar Paths'.
